WILSON DIRECTS COAL MINERS TO CALL OFF STRIKE

FROM SICK BED PRESIDENT DECLARES THE LAW WILL BE ENFORCED

"NATION WILL BE PROTECTED"

Cabinet Goes Over Situation And Then Submits Matter to Executive.

Washington, Oct. 27.—Holding the impending coal strike not only to be unjustifiable but also unlawful, President Wilson in a statement issued, with the support of his entire cabinet, called on the coal miners of the nation, both union officers and members, to rescind the strike order effective November 1.

The President declined to enter into the merits of the controversy between the miners and operators, but emphatically declared that the strike which he characterized as the most far-reaching proposal in the nation's history to restrict production and distribution of all necessities of life, had apparently been ordered without a vote of the individual miners concerned. For this reason the President served definite notice "that the law will be enforced and the means will be found to protect the interests of the nation in any emergency that may arise out of this unhappy business."

The President's statement was issued after his cabinet had gone over the entire situation with Secretary Wilson of the Labor Department, whose efforts to bring miners and operators together in negotiations had failed.

The President, in his statement, reviewed the steps leading up to the strike call, including the Cleveland Convention of the United Mine Workers of America one month ago at which the demands for a thirty-hour week and 60 per cent. increase in wages was formulated. The war in itself, the President asserted, still was a fact, peace negotiations still in suspense and troops still being transported. Because of these factors and the added consideration that the victims of the strike would be both among the rich and the poor of the nation, the President said the proposed walk-out could only be considered as unlawful, and as the nation's executive, entrusted with enforcement of the law, he would use the means at his disposal to prevent any stoppage of work.

The services of the government as a mediator, offered by the President through Secretary Wilson, but not accepted, were again held out, the President declaring that he held himself in readiness, at the request of either or both sides, to appoint a commission to investigate the situation, to effect an orderly settlement of disputed questions with due recognition of the rights of the miners, the operators and the public.

There was no direct intimation of what steps the Cabinet has discussed to prevent stoppage of work should the president's solemn warning to the miners to rescind the strike order fail of result. It was regarded as insignificant, however, the attention was drawn in White House circles to the statements made by Secretary Baker in a recent address in Cleveland, when Mr. Baker announced that department commanders had been directed to furnish troops at the request of governors without referring the matter to Washington. Major-Gen. Wood in the central department has already exercised that authority in the steel strike situation.

John W. Lewis, president of the United Mine Workers of America, worn out by a week's session of senate committees, had left here for Springfield, Ill., to take personal charge of the strike before the President's statement was issued.

"The situation so far as the miners are concerned is unchanged," Lewis said. "We are still ready and willing to negotiate a new wage contract before November 1."

CONVENTION AT OLIVET CHURCH STURGIS CLOSING OVER THE TOP

Ohio Valley Baptist Association Was Well Attended.

At Sturgis the 31st annual meeting of the Ohio Valley Baptist Association came to a close Wednesday afternoon. Rev. Don Q. Smith, pastor of the Emmanuel Baptist church, at Henderson, presiding.

The attendance was the largest in the history of the Association, in spite of the inclemency of the weather which kept many away.

The 75 Million Campaign for missions proved the spiritual dynamo of the meeting and the missionary spirit ran high. Rev. Dr. M. P. Hunt of Louisville, was the principal speaker on this subject and his stirring appeal, coupled with the inspiring address of Miss Louise Tucker, returned missionary from China aroused the entire audience.

The Ohio Valley Association is composed of all of Henderson and Union counties and a small part of Webster county. The amount allotted to the Association in the 75 Million drive is $225,000, which will, no doubt, be oversubscribed.—Sun.

First Baptist Church, In Christian County To Raise Its Quota.

To the Olivet Baptist church at Howell belongs the honor of being the first of the 26 churches in Christian county to raise its quota in the $75,000,000 Campaign and go over the top. The pastor of the church is Rev. J. T. Lewis and the membership is 242. The quota of the church was $17,000. The subscriptions were all pledged at the service Sunday morning without the formality of canvass or the usual committees to visit the membership. The splendid leadership of Dr. Lewis greatly helped in bringing about the result.

LITTLE RIVER

Association Holds Meeting—Next Meeting at Shady Grove.

The Little River Baptist Association, after a pleasant and interesting session of two days with the Cadiz church, came to a close last Tuesday afternoon. The continual rainy weather kept down the crowds in attendance, but those here were highly entertained by the Cadiz people.

Dr. John Hill, dean of Georgetown, Ky., College and organizer of the State 75 Million Campaign, delivered two able addresses before the Association in the interest of this great movement, one on Wednesday night and the other on Thursday morning.

The various reports of the Association had much to do looking to the success of this campaign, and the interest manifested indicates a success in raising the money assigned to the various churches of the Association.

The Association will be held in 1920 with the church at Shady Grove, in the southern section of the county and will convene on Wednesday before the second Sunday in August, and will be in session just two days. While the church at Shady Grove was organized sixty-three years ago, this will be the first time the Association was ever held there.—Record.

The church's apportionment for the drive is $9,000 and an all-day rally will be held on Nov. 8, with several four-minute men from the Association to assist.

Coal dealers, represented in the American Wholesale association, doing an annual business of 100,000,000 tons in all the principal cities of the country, have pledged their efforts to prevent any increase in the price of coal as a result of the impending coal strike or after such strike, should one be called. To insure an uninterrupted supply of coal for public utilities, including railroads, in event of a strike, the Association recommended to Chairman Frelinghuysen and members of the Senate committee investigating coal prices that the war department be instructed to put the draft into operation to supply the mine with workers.

USE BUZZARD AS AIRPLANE

Rice Birds Take Free Rides Apparently for the Pure Fun of the Thing.

Size and strength are popularly associated with victory, especially among the lower animals, but in many cases this is far from being the case, particularly in the bird world. Among the rice flats of the Carolinas there abound at some seasons tiny rice birds, birds so small that it takes two dozen for a good meal, even though bones and all are eaten.

The great buzzard is found circling over the flats at all times. He dreads the time for the rice bird to come, for he is then nearly pestered to death. It is a common sight to see one of these tiny creatures fly up to a buzzard, and, after dodging this way and that around the awkward bulk, finally alight well forward between the buzzard's wings on the back. Here the little passenger grabs a few feathers in his beak and holds on for grim life. After enjoying a ride for as long as he desires, the little fellow hops off and is gone.

The peculiar feature of the whole performance is that apparently the only purpose the rice bird has in getting on the back of the buzzard is to take a free ride. It puzzles every one who chances to see the little play to find any other reason; yet the fact remains that it is a frequent occurrence, and the little birds seem to enjoy it hugely.

KEEP 300 JOB BUREAUS OPEN

Welfare Societies Respond to Appeal of Federal Employment Service.

FIND WORK FOR SOLDIERS

Two Hundred and Sixty-four Offices Already Assured, With Replies From Five States Still to Be Received.

Washington.—So great has been the response of the country to the appeal of the United States employment service to assist in the maintenance of its soldiers' and civilian workers' placement organization in the field that with returns from five large states not yet received, and those from none of the other states complete, the continuance of 264 employment offices already is assured. Because of its limited appropriation the federal employment service is itself able to finance but sixty offices, and the outside support for the other 200 offices will be continued until congress acts upon the Nolan-Kenyon bills for a permanent national employment service.

Welfare organizations and chambers of commerce lend among the various agencies that are keeping federal employment offices open, supplying quarters, personnel and funds. The agencies which have been co-operating with the employment service since demobilization began also are continuing their support of the 2,000 emergency bureaus for returning soldiers and sailors.

Keep 300 Open.

John B. Densmore, director general of the United States employment service, predicted that when the returns from the states are complete it will be found that considerably more than three hundred federal offices will be open through voluntary contributions. From the end of March to June 30, he said, more than four hundred offices were kept in operation by outside funds in expectation that after the latter date the employment service would be able to resume their financing, but because of the reduced appropriation for the new fiscal year, he explained, continued support is being asked for the next five months, within which period, it is understood, congress will have acted on the measure for a permanent service.

"The response of the country indicates a general desire of all to give practical assistance to the soldier and civilian war worker seeking to re-establish himself. Mr. Densmore said: "It also shows that American communities, having learned the value of having a central public employment office during the last eighteen months, want those offices continued."

Thousands of Cats Are Homeless by Prohibition

New York.—Another of the evils of prohibition has been discovered.

Seven thousand cats have been made homeless in New York by the closing up of the saloons. It is estimated. There were well over 7,000 saloons in New York and, outside the fashionable bars in the big hotels, it is estimated that every bar-room had its cat, some of them more than one.

Now that the saloons are closed the cats are homeless.

HOW TO MAKE HOG CRATES

Federal Department of Agriculture Has Many Queries From Shippers.

Washington.—More than 50,000 requests for information on how to make hog crates have been received by the United States department of agriculture.

A large number of the requests are from club members, and the percentage received from the South is regarded by officials of the department as an index to the extent of improvement the hog industry has made in that part of the United States.

The type of crate the department specialists have developed and are now recommending has several advantages. It can be easily handled, and provides comfort without loss of space for the hog in transit. A circular of the department tells how to build the crate.

I was not able to do anything until I took Cardui. I took three bottles in all, and it surely cured me of those awful headaches. That has been three years ago, and I know the cure is permanent, for I have never had any headache since taking Cardui.

BELGIUM SPEEDS UP

Making Rapid Strides in Work of Reconstruction.

Program Will Be Completed Successfully, According to Henry H. Morgan.

Brussels.—Henry H. Morgan, American high trade commissioner in Belgium, has established a commercial organization here to aid in the reconstruction of Belgian Industries. He announces that this organization is at the disposal of all merchants and manufacturers in Belgium and America.

To a press correspondent Mr. Morgan said that, in view of what the Belgians already have accomplished, he did not feel discouraged over industrial conditions in this country. "On the contrary," he said, "I feel certain that they will carry their reconstruction program through to a successful conclusion. I notice an intense cultivation of the soil, which will result in the next crop being nearly equal to prewar crops."

"Virtually all the glass factories in the country now are in operation, and 30 per cent of the textile looms now are busy spinning raw cotton arriving from the United States."

"It is estimated that the loan of 100,000,000 francs which American bankers have agreed to extend to Belgium will go a long way toward reconstruction. It also will have a beneficial effect upon the purchase price of the franc, which at the present time is very low. Repayment of this loan is not to commence until 1930. It is only by rapidly building her mills that Belgium can hope to pay back this loan in the production of her manufactured goods."

Mr. Morgan said it was estimated that the Germans had carried away one-third of the Belgian live stock. Experts of the United States department of agriculture have arrived from America to aid the Belgian ministry of agriculture in shipping breeding stock to Belgium.

"It is my understanding," added Mr. Morgan, "that preparations now are under way for sending a fleet of 30 vessels, each carrying live stock."

Ideal Fall Weather.

Here it is almost November 1 and no frost yet and fresh vegetables still growing in the gardens and the grass as green as springtime. The falling leaves alone suggest that fall has come.

Somewhat Elderly "Boy."

"What's the matter with Flossie tonight?" somebody asked Tessie Tabasco in the dressing room, indicating one of the girls who was showing unmistakable signs of temper. "Her 'boy' promised to take her out to dinner tonight, and then didn't turn up." "How was that?" "According to what she said his favorite grandchild is very ill."

FOR FLETCHER'S
CASTORIA

The local chapter of the American Legion is planning a rally day before November 11th, Armistice Day. The members are to get every ex-soldier in the county enrolled before that date. "All you ex-soldiers don't wait until you are seen by some member of the local chapter, but enroll your name with W. O. Soyars, adjutant of Christian county Chapter No. 1.

Incorporation of the Legion
Congress may be credited with speedy action in passing the Wolcott-Johnson bill, officially incorporating the American Legion. The measure went through committee hearings and was passed by both houses during September. The President took time from the press of his tour of the country to read the important document. He affixed his signature while aboard his private car, at Hornbrook, Cal.

This action confers upon the American Legion an exceptional distinction and recognition. The youngest veteran association in America, it is the first in the history of the country to receive such recognition from Congress. That such recognition has occurred within six months from the inception of the Legion in France is merely another indication of the new energy which the veterans of the 1917-18 are infusing into American life.

A dominant feature of the national charter is its emphatic determination against partisan politics. This stand is summed up in a phrase of unmistakable language: "The organization shall be non-political and as an organization shall not promote the candidacy of any person seeking public office."

Exploding a "Dud"

More than 650,000 members are now active in the American Legion. The Legion is governed by the majority voice of its members. The largest number of officers ever commissioned in the Army during the war was approximately 210,000. If all those one-time officers had joined the American Legion, which they have not, they would be outnumbered three to one at this moment, which dispenses of that matter.

Let Them Forget.

Recent disclosures in the American Legion Weekly concerning the Government's deplorable neglect of its obligation to disabled American soldiers have brought a flood of letters reciting individual cases. They are being brought to the attention of the proper authorities for proper action—and will be followed up to see that proper action is applied as in fact will the whole vocational training system under its new arrangement of operation.

Among the letters received on this subject are several from disabled soldiers, expressing gratitude to the American Legion for taking up their case. They were discouraged and despondent, feeling that they had been forgotten by a once grateful public. These letters are truly pathetic. The point they raise is pathetically true. The American public is grateful and patriotic and just. But it forgets easily in such matters.

And there is no greater mission ahead of the American Legion than to see that the public memory does not lapse. Not only in the matter of vocational training for disabled soldiers, and in other matters affecting the rightful interests of the men and women who were in service; but in matters affecting the new American.

The American Legion must speak when the best interest of America are lost amid selfish clamor. It must keep alive in the public mind the menace and ignominy of the alien slacker and of the little American and near American. It must see that the lessons of the war are applied rather than forgotten. That the quickened pulse of national patriotism does not lag.

It must see to it that the faith is kept with those who died. And that a safer, sounder, better America is salvaged from the rending sacrifices of a bitter war.

Literature for the Blind.

The first book in English printed in raised or embossed letters for the use of the blind was issued at Edinburgh 92 years ago by James Galt. The first attempt to provide literature for the sightless was made in 1786 by Haüy, at Paris, who invented a system of printing raised letters. Haüy used the Llyrian or Slavonian alphabet in the few brief works he published, and his project ended in failure.

Altogether Too Much Haste.

"What's your grudge against Judge Wombat?" "Too hasty, too hasty. Gives a man no time to prepare his cases. Case of mine has been on the docket only ten years and he insists on my going to trial."—Memphis Appeal.

Absolute Limit.

"A man ain't reached de full human capacity foh laziness," said Uncle Eben, "until he gits too lazy even to invent excuses foh it."

FACE VALUE

By LOUISE HOFFMAN.

"My stars! If that ain't the 'leven-twenty," exclaimed Hannah Houghson, as a shrill whistle rent the morning
air. "Beats all how time flies, Hiram; ain't that butter come yet?" she rasped.

"I guess it'll come soon, now," drawled her tall, good-natured husband, patiently turning away at the huge barrel churn.

"Well, you'd best give them cows more salt," she advised, hustling about with one eye on the station platform.
My! dinner'll be late today. That butter has got to go on the 3:15, an'
'tain't churned yet."

Hannah dropped her steel-rimmed spectacles down onto her angular nose and peered out of the window. In the 30 years that she and Hiram had lived in the tiny cottage perched on a hill above the station she had never been too busy to stop and watch the few passengers alight at Cedartown.

"Mercy!" she cried as her attention became centered on a smartly dressed couple with a young baby.
"That woman don't act much like a mother. She's lettin' the sun blaze right into that poor baby's eyes." Then, after a moment's intent watching and relief: "There, she's shadin' it some now."

"Why, Hiram," she gasped, "there they go in an automobile up the half-mile drive to the Appleby estate. They must be the new people who have rented the place."

"Butter's come," announced Hiram triumphantly.

"Well, if they ain't got a baby. Sam Corby told me he wa'n't goin' to rent to folks with children agin'. The last funny barked off all the sittin' room pailt."

"It'll be a long time 'fore that baby barks off much pailt," reflected Hiram, skimming out the golden lumps of butter onto the working board.

"That ain't it so much as that these folks is gettin' this place under false pretenses. Last week I saw their furniture, and they had a high chair an'
a cradle and a go-cart, and now they got the baby, all right."

"It's none of our business what they got," broke in Hiram. "Let Sam take care of that end of it."

Finally, she could restrain her curiosity no longer and one pleasant afternoon she ventured a call on the
"queer people."

"Now, Mrs. Gavey," she began after introducing herself, "I'm afraid you'll think the neighbors ain't very sociable.
I hope you ain't lonely."

Mrs. Gavey smiled. "We've been so busy we haven't had time," she replied. "And then, we have plenty of resources within ourselves."

"Y-es, I suppose so," returned Hannah dubiously. She ruffled in a moment and came to the point of her call at once. "How is the baby?" she inquired solicitously. "The poor little thing must be pretty peaked shet up so much."

Mrs. Gavey stared at her visitor in polite amazement.

"The baby?" she questioned. "There must be some mistake. We have no baby. You know, Mr. Corby refused to take tenants with children."

"What, ain't you got no baby?" questioned Hannah bluntly. Then raising her hands in horror: "What's become of it, then?"

The entrance of Mr. Gavey at this moment caused a happy interruption.

"One of our neighbors has come to call," explained Mrs. Gavey, "and is under the impression that we have a baby."

"Why, you had a cradle an' a high chair an' a go-cart in your furniture," asserted Hannah.

"Oh," laughed Mrs. Gavey, "the high chair belonged to Mr. Gavey when he was a child. The cradle and go-cart are presents and we have them packed and ready to ship to my brother tomorrow."

"But you had a baby in your arms the first day you arrived in Cedarville," declared Hannah.

"I had a baby when I came here?"
she echoed vaguely. "I don't remember," looking helplessly at her husband.

Mr. and Mrs. Gavey had made so many trips that their first trip seemed to have blotted out of their minds.
Suddenly Mrs. Gavey's face brightened. "Alley's baby!" she ejaculated.
"That's it."

In a flash they saw how a simple incident had created an air of mystery about them. "On the train," explained Mrs. Gavey, "we met a friend who had just recovered from a serious illness. She was traveling with her baby and a trained nurse. The trip proved too much for her and she became ill, requiring all the nurse's attention. We took charge of the child and brought it to Cedartown with us. We telephoned the father and he followed on the next train and he took the child home that night."

Hannah never knew just how she made her exit.

"I guess you was right about them folks," meditatively admitted Hannah that night at supper as she confessed her blunder to Hiram. "You can't believe half what you see and it's better to take folks on 'face value'
like you do chickens and notes."

Hiram, who had hardly put his arm about her, was all liable to make mistakes, she thought.

"They're real good people," she went on, "an' I think they cured me tryin' to be a Sherlock Holmes."

DR. T. N. COMPTON
IN LOUISVILLE

Dr. T. N. Compton, who is conducting a series of meetings at the Weaver Memorial Baptist Church, corner Seventh and Chesnut streets, has a very striking personality. Six feet, six inches in height, weighing about 270 pounds, he resembles in general outline our late Senator Ollie M.

Dr. Compton is the possessor of a remarkable resonant voice, and has the power of holding the attention of his audience throughout this discourse.

Dr. Compton received the degrees of A. B., A. M. and D. D. at Bethel College, Russellville, Ky., and has been pastor at Madisonville and Owensboro, Ky., Baton Rouge, La.,
Baltimore, Md., and Lebanon, Tenn.
During his ministry and evangelistic career he has seen about twenty thousand people profess faith in Christ. He conducted the first meeting ever held in the Walnut Street Baptist church, at Third and St. Catharine streets. He was the intimate friend of Dr. T. T. Eaton, the then pastor of this church, and in 1904 visited the West Indies in company with Dr. Eaton. In 1897 he visited Europe.

The late Senator Ollie James said of Dr. Compton: "There is no finer personality in the Congress of the United States," and the ex-Congressman W. T. Ellis said that "In many respects as a preacher, Dr. Compton has no superior in the South."

Dr. Compton has declined many flattering offerings from churches in the South, feeling that his call is exclusive to the evangelistic field. He will continue his meetings at the Weaver Memorial church another week.

The music under the direction of Mr. Arthur G. Fielding is quite a feature of these meetings.—Courier-Journal.

NEW EUROPEAN WORK BEGUN BY BAPTISTS

Twenty-seven Native Missionaries Are Being Assigned in Czecho-Slovakia

Immediate work in the program of Southern Baptists for the spiritual reconstruction of Europe is promised in the naming of twenty-seven native missionaries for service in Czecho-Slovakia, the new republic in the heart of Europe, it is announced by Dr. T. B. Ray, associate secretary of the Foreign Mission Board and survey director of the Baptist 75 Million Campaign.

At a recent conference of the leading Baptists from all parts of Czecho-Slovakia at Prague, Bohemia, the need of evangelical missionaries in that country was set forth, and a call for volunteers for that work made.
In response to that appeal, twenty-seven of the most talented young men of the nation surrendered to give themselves entirely to preaching the gospel, and these are now in process of appointment by the Foreign Mission Board.

Prior to the world war, the mission board had launched a commodious church building in Prague, having made large contributions to aid the local congregation in this undertaking. Local members continued their work throughout the war, and the Foreign Mission Board has now voted a sum sufficient to complete the building and pay off all indebtedness.

The commission of prominent Baptists to study how the 75 Million Campaign can aid in the reconstruction of Europe is now in France and will go from there into Belgium, Italy, Czecho-Slovakia, the Ukraine and such other important parts of Russia as are open. Later, it will visit Palestine for a study of the work being done in Syria, Persia and Galilee.

I. C. HOSPITAL AT PADUCAH IS NEARLY COMPLETED

Paducah, Ky., Oct. 27.—Chief Surgeon Dowdall, of the Illinois Central railroad, whose headquarters are in Chicago, is expected in Paducah in a few days to inspect the Illinois Central Hospital, which is about completed. The building cost $250,- 000 and is said to be one of the finest institutions of its kind in the South.
Inability to obtain furnishings, which had to be manufactured especially for the hospital, has delayed opening for service for an indefinite period.
No official announcement has yet been made as to the staff for the hospital.
The present staff is composed of Dr.
J. Q. Taylor, chief surgeon; Dr.
Frank Boyd and Dr. Vernon Powell, assistants, with Dr. H. G. Reynolds as eye, ear and nose specialist. The old hospital was destroyed by fire over a year ago and since then the railroad has been using the City Hospital.

SPEND $20,000,000 UPON EDUCATION

SOUTHERN BAPTISTS PLAN MUCH LARGER PROVISION FOR ALL THEIR INSTITUTIONS.

WILL AID RURAL SCHOOLS

Success of 75 Million Campaign Will Mean Strengthening of Educational Forces All Along the Line in Next Five Years.

Of the total sum sought in the Baptist 75 Million Campaign, $20,000,000 will go to Christian education.

But the educational program of the Baptists will not stop there. It proposes to lend itself to the creation of a public sentiment that will result in more efficient public schools in the territory of the Southern Baptist Convention, especially in the rural districts. In this connection it is pointed out that 37 per cent of the total elementary scholastic population of the nation is found in the South; that the rural scholastic population of the South is 77 per cent of the whole; that only one-sixth as much money per capita is expended on the education of the children of the South as on the children of other sections of the country; that only 37 out of every 1,000 pupils in the South enter high school as against 87 from other sections; and only 10 from the South enter college as against 21 from other sections.

Distributed throughout the territory of the Southern Baptist Convention are 112 educational institutions, including academies, colleges, universities, seminaries, and missionary training schools for women. These have a total enrollment of 18,000 annually, but all of them are crowded, greatly in need of larger facilities in every way, and many of them must have an enlargement if they are to meet the demands made upon them. It is in supplying these needs that the $20,000,000 apportioned to Christian education will be expended.

To these institutions the denomination is looking for its trained leaders to help carry forward the work along every line contemplated in the $75,000,000 campaign. In Texas alone there are 700 pastorless Baptist churches and probably the same proportion holds in the other states. It is hoped the campaign will call out 5,000 volunteers for ministerial and missionary work and these institutions will be asked to equip these young men and women for their work.

Last year, reports show, over 6,000 students in these institutions took voluntary courses in Bible and mission study; nearly 4,000 of them attended student prayer meetings; ministerial students pastoring churches raised more than $80,000 for church benevolences and led more than 10,000 people to profess Christ. The campaign hopes to result in enrolling 35,000 young men and women in Baptist schools within the next five years.

The South wide institutions that will benefit from the campaign include Southern Baptist Theological Seminary and Women's Training School at Louisville, Ky.; Southwestern Baptist Theological Seminary and Women's Training School at Fort Worth, Tex.; Baptist Bible Institute, New Orleans, and Negro Theological Seminary at Nashville, while aid will be given to every Baptist institution of learning in all states of the convention territory, and to new Baptist colleges that will be established in Arkansas, Florida, Illinois, Louisiana and New Mexico, along with one somewhere in the region of the Appalachian mountains yet to be definitely located.

PE-RU-NA

THE REMEDY FOR EVERYDAY ILLS

"I have used Pe-ru-na for years in cases of colds and catarrh. The results have been good, in fact, more than you claimed. Have also taken Lacupia and can easily say it is one of the best blood purifiers I have ever used."

Mr. J. F. Arendt

For Catarrh and Catarrhal Conditions

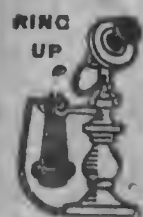

The evidence of one man like Mr. Arendt is more convincing proof to you of the merits of Pe-ru-na than any written words of ours. For fifty years Pe-ru-na has been the standby of the American family for diseases due to catarrhal inflammation of the mucous membranes lining the organs of the body. Thousands, like Mr. Arendt, have proved the effectiveness of Pe-ru-na for coughs, colds, nasal catarrh, stomach, bowel and liver disorders or any disease characterized by a catarrhal condition. If your suffering is the result of a catarrhal disorder try Pe-ru-na. It is a true, tried medicine.

PIPELESS CALORIC FURNACE
The Original Patented Pipeless Furnace

Perfect heating guaranteed at a cost of 35 per cent less fuel than by stoves. Save fuel—it is needed. Get comfort—you are entitled to it.

The heart of your home life is in the heating. Make sure of that comfort and happiness follows.

Caloric Quality is Your Protection

Over 50,000 homes in the United States heartily endorse Caloric quality. The owners know the merits of the Original Patented Pipeless Furnace. They have daily proof that it correctly applies Nature's own law of circulated heat, that it saves 35% of the fuel and that its Ironclad Guarantee of comfort and economy is always made good by its performance.

Caloric success is due to its principles of construction. The Caloric is especially designed for pipeless heating—the original. It is not a pipe furnace with a casing, nor is it a makeshift adapted to meet a new demand. The best efforts of scientifically trained engineers resulted years ago in this new type furnace, which has been refined and improved until it embodies those principles necessary to your satisfaction not found in imitations, because they are fully protected by patents. There is as much difference in pipeless furnaces as in horses—you can buy quality or you can get cheapness, which costs more in the long run.

Let Us Show You

the Caloric and explain its exclusive features. Then you will never be satisfied with any other and will know that it represents the most for the money. You will not make the mistake of a poor investment when you understand why the Caloric is so superior, why it stands alone in leadership in this field and why imitations cannot produce its satisfaction to users.

The Caloric can be installed quickly in old and new houses. It burns coal, coke, wood or gas. Clean, fire-proof, well made and fully guaranteed.

Come in and get the free book "Progress," which tells all the facts about pipeless heating. Study the question and let us show you how easily the furnace can be put into your house.

Nimble Wit and Tongue Landed Job for Owner

The Santa Fe Railroad company had been advertising in Eastern newspapers for brakemen. A big, ugly, raw-boned chap, who looked like a prizefighter, appeared before Fred C. Fox, general manager at Topeka, Kan., and applied for work.

"I see that you want some brakemen," said he. "I would like a job."

"We don't need any brakemen," replied Fox, after sizing up the fellow.

"Then you should take that ad out of the papers and quit fooling us," said the man. "I came all the way from Philadelphia in reply to your ad."

"Yes, we do need brakemen," confessed Fox, "but we don't want you."

"Why not?"

"I don't like your looks."

"So you hire a man on his looks, eh?"

"Yes."

"Well, who hired you?" asked the brakeman.

"I guess you will do," replied Fox with a laugh. "You can go to work this afternoon."

BATTLE BIG SHARKS

Hawaiian Sportsmen Risk Their Lives at Game.

Dead Horses Make Best Bait, and Sport Has Been Commercialized.

Honolulu.—Using the carcass of a horse for bait, a Honolulu sportsman went fishing recently in a powerboat and returned with a fish weighing 1,500 pounds and measuring almost 10 feet from tip to tip, the largest shark killed in Hawaiian waters for many years.

Shark fishing, or rather, hunting, as it is conducted in Hawaii, is a thrilling sport, not entirely lacking in danger to the hunter.

In fact, a death battle with a harpooned shark, according to big-game hunters, is about as snafu as a midnight combat with a hungry tiger.

Sharks, in their death throes, have been known to attack the boat and with their powerful rows of serrated teeth rip great sections from the sides.

The shark hunter first obtains a dead horse, and if it has been dead a week so much the better.

The powerboat tows the carcass outside the harbor and the hunt is on. Sharks, attracted by the odor of the bait, gather in large numbers and soon begin striking at the carcass, ripping huge chunks of flesh from it.

At this stage the hunter endeavors to work his boat near enough to permit a shot with the harpoon.

Once securely harpooned, a big shark will fight for hours before succumbing.

Recently in Hawaii shark hunting has been placed on a commercial basis, and the development of a big industry is forecast.

Shark fins are deemed a great delicacy by orientals, and dried shark meat has found a ready market.

The canning of shark meat is being considered. The livers yield a valuable oil.

CHA-CHAS ARE POOR MIXERS

Marines Say Tribe in Virgin Islands Plainly Indicate They Want to Be Left Alone.

Washington.—United States marines who have hobbled with Filipino headhunters, and have long been friendly with the Chamorro of Guam, met their Waterloo when they tried to establish the entente cordiale with the Cha-Chas of the Virgin Islands.

According to the marines the Cha-Chas are "poor mixers." They live on the west side of the harbor of Charlotte-Amalie, decline to mingle or intermarry with the negroes, and resent any outside interference with their affairs. They are the hardest drinkers and best workers on the island, their industry bringing them a good living as fishermen and weavers of straw hats. The tribe is said to have come originally from the Dutch and French Leeward Islands.

So far the marines have taken only long distance observations of the Cha-Chas. For while the tribe is not hostile, its members plainly indicate that they want to be left alone.

ALLOWED TO SNAP MIKADO

Public May Photograph Emperor Only When Driving in Carriage, However.

Tokyo.—Permission has just been granted to take photographs of the imperial family as the members appear in public driving in a carriage, but not when they are on horseback or afoot. This is interpreted here as a great concession to the spirit of democracy.

In the earlier days of Japan it was popularly supposed that any one gazing on the sacred emperor would be struck blind. As late as 1915, on the occasion of the coronation at Kyoto, photographs of the emperor and empress exhibited in shop windows had the faces obscured by pieces of paper.

FOSTER MOTHERS FOR MERCHANT MARINE BOYS

United States Shipping Board Takes Good Care of Those Who Enter Service.

The United States shipping board takes such good care of the boys who enter the merchant marine training service to become sailors, firemen or stewards on ships of the nation's great commerce fleet that it provides them even with foster mothers.

Any lad who is lonesome and has no folks to visit near the training station where he takes his first steps as a mariner finds sympathetic companionship at clubrooms maintained for his benefit by the social service bureau of the United States shipping board recruiting service.

Mature women who understand boy nature, through study of their own boys, are numbered among the volunteers who help carry on the welfare work for the merchant marine apprentices. Besides clubs, canteens, social halls, and hostess rooms are maintained for the use of the young merchant mariners.

Comforts, entertainment and on occasion friendly advice are provided by these women. On occasion the sewing on of a button for a young sailor who has not yet learned the full use of his "diddy box" equipment of needle and thread makes a friend of the new-fledged sailor.

The social service bureau is conducted entirely by women, under the direction of Mrs. Henry Howard, a Boston society leader. It looks out for the welfare of Jack, the merchant marine apprentice, from the time he arrives at the training station, to go on board a training ship, until he leaves it for deep sea voyages in a merchant vessel's crew.

Even after that the bureau follows the fortunes of the merchant sailor by keeping in touch with him through official channels, and also with his family, acting as a friend of both in case of misfortune to either.

LITTLE BOY PHENOMENON

Does Eight Years of School Work in Half That Time.

Completing an eight-year course of studies in exactly half that time, Ernest Burriss Bingham, twelve years of age, son of Mrs. H. Ernest Bingham of Los Angeles, Cal., has made a scholarship record that has attracted wide attention.

Leaving the school of Our Lady of Loretto recently, Ernest will enter the Jesuit college in September on credits granted by the school and will plunge into a collegiate course.

Mrs. Elizabeth Lansing Burriss, a first cousin of Secretary of State Robert Lansing, is the boy's grandmother. Although always remarkably studious, Ernest is athletic, rugged and strong.

The study of law has a great appeal for the boy and he delights in delving into civil cases. He will try to enter a law office when he finishes his college course. At three years of age Ernest showed a lively interest in newspapers and at three and a half years he was able to read.

Her husband finally prevailed upon her to accompany him to Sioux City.

Secretary Lane Has Rumor That Men May Reconsider Order.

Washington, Oct. 26.—Official Washington is waiting tonight the reply of the leaders, as well as the rank and file of the United Mine Workers of America, to President Wilson's request to them "to recall all strike orders looking to a strike November 1, and to take whatever steps may be necessary to prevent any stoppage of work."

Coal operators, through their spokesmen, have announced that they stand ready to co-operate with the government in its efforts to prevent the strike. As the situation now stands the whole question of whether the country is to suffer what the President called a "disastrous fuel famine" with all unhappy consequences of such a disaster, is up to John L. Lewis and other leaders of the miners' union.

There is a report in circulation tonight that miners may change their attitude and call a meeting of representatives of unions identified with the coal industry for the purpose of reconsidering the strike order. This report, which is not verified, came to Secretary of the Interior Lane.

Lewis Is Defiant.

Bloomington, Ill., Oct. 27.—John L. Lewis, acting president of the United Mine Workers of America, last night declined to state specifically the attitude of the United Mine Workers toward the statement of President Wilson, regarding the proposed strike of the bituminous coal miners of the nation.

"I am an American, free born, with all the pride of my heritage. I love my country with its institutions and traditions. With Abraham Lincoln, I thank God that we have a country where men may strike."

"May the power of my government never be used to throttle and crush the efforts of toilers to improve their material welfare and elevate the standard of their citizenship."

GERMANY MAY FORM OWN LEAGUE OF NATIONS

Teutons Would Dominate Organization to Oppose Allies.

Geneva, Oct. 27.—The Munich correspondent of the Journal de Geneve announces that Germany intends to found a League of Nations of its own, in competition with the Allied League.

The Germans are trying to obtain the co-operation of Russia, Austria, Hungary and eventually Italy and Japan, in addition to all the smaller dissatisfied new states which disagree with the decisions of the Paris conference. Naturally Germany will dominate the league.

Several German newspapers are supporting the scheme, including the official Bavarian organ, the "Bayerische Staatszeitung."

The Germans are relying on Socialist support in the Allied countries. No place or date for the creation of the new League of Nations is announced.

WHO was it spread the gospel that "Knowledge is power?" He said a book-full of facts. Knowledge is power, and your home newspaper is a sort of power plant out of which you draw knowledge of lots of things--clothes, for instance. The more knowledge you gather about clothes the better qualified you are to buy prudently and economically. We believe that if all men carefully studied the clothes question instead of buying haphazard on price alone as many do, it would be impossible to supply the demand for

Society Brand CLOTHES

This store made an exhaustive study of clothes and the knowledge gained decided us in favor of handling Society Brand. The proof of their superiority was so pronounced by careful comparison that we were even surprised.
